THE Gleichen Call

Thirteenth Year, No. 19 GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1919

Chautauqua Will Return

Chautauqua will come to Gleichen again next year, over one hundred farmers and business men having signed an agreement guaranteeing $1500. The agreement for next year is slightly different in that it provides that each person signing it will take five tickets and disphse of them at $3 each. Thus each man is responsible only for five tickets or $15. Those who live at a distance may also exchange their tickets with another. For instance two farmers can buy a ticket, one attend one day and the other the next.

This year those who signed the guarantee had each to pay about $5 50 cash, and deserve the thanks of the entire community for their enterprise in bring to us so many excellent entertainers.

That Chautauqua was appreciated is hardly necessary to add after stating more than 100 signed up for another year, and the superintendent, Miss Colman, may well be proud of the success in Gleichen as she had much to contend with in overcoming the trouble some predecessors caused, and we hope she may return to Gleichen again.

The Calgary Stampede

The pioneer days of the last best west in every detail will be reproduced in Calgary from August 25th to 30th at the greatest victory celebration which will be held in Canada, The Stampede. As this is to be a jubilation in honor of the home-coming of our victorious heroes, The Stampede will take the form of a great re-union of Western pioneers of both the Canadian and American west.

In order to carry out the intention to make this the greatest celebration of its kind ever held on the continent, a committee known as the "Big Four", with George Lane, chairman; P. Burns, A. E. Cross and A. J. McLean, has been formed to take charge of the financial end of the undertaking, while E. L. Richardson is act as treasurer. The general manager is Guy Weadick, who it will be remembered, engineered the eminently successful stampede held in Calgary during the boom time of 1912.

No particular has been neglected to ensure the entire success of the stampede, special arrangements being made for the accomodation of the thousands of visitors who will throng to Calgary for that week. Agreements have been signed by many hotel and restaurant proprietors guaranteeing that there will be no increase in prices to the Stampede guests, but that beds and meals will be provided at the regular rates. At the majority of celebrations of this kind out of town patrons are charged exhorbitant prices for accommodation, but "big four" made this one of the stipulations upon which they would go into the affair, that there would be no sting at the stampede in Calgary The guarantee was forthcoming, and Kiwanis club, an organization of prominent business men, has undertaken to conduct an accomodation bureau during stampede week and will have some of its own members in attendance during the entire six days to take care of outside visitors.

A prize list as extensive as the one being offered in Calgary has never before been offered at a similar celebration, giving as it does $25,000 in cash prizes alone for the best riders, ropers and so forth.

Sports Program Nearly Ready

Tomorrow night—Thursday—an important meeting of the Gleichen District Agricultural Association will [illegible] exhibition. As there is work for all to do it is hoped every one interested will attend prepared to do their share in what promises to be the best fair ever given in Gleichen.

The Sports Committee is hard at work and hope in a few days to issue the program of events, which will be the very best the members can obtain contestants for. Watch for it. There is $500 00 set aside for entertainment and the committee will make the best of it.

Altogether there is about $2,500 00 offered in prizes for this exhibition and every person should find something to compete for.

An important feature of this Stampede is the fact that all profits will go to the Great War Veterans' Association, the Y.M.C.A. and Salvation Army.

From August 25th to 30th Calgary will be the greatest "Cowtown" on the continent and will be the meeting place of ranchers and city residents from the Atlantic to the Pacific and north and south of the international boundary.

Sports Next Wednesday

PROF. BARRY HERE

Would You Like to be a Real Horse Witch?

Prof. Barry, an expert horse trainer, is now in Gleichen and next Wednesday afternoon, August 6th, will entertain all Gleichenites with a unique program of sports at the Fair Grounds that he guarantees will delight every person, old and young, and for which he offers liberal cash prizes.

For the best rider of bucking orses, open to the world, he offers $25 and for the best bucking horse $10. There will be Indian races and contest perhaps you never heard of before that will make you laugh.

Prof. Barry is here to start a class to teach his wonderful system of horse training and educating. He has already secured a number of horses from Midleigh Bros. H2 ranch and invites all to bring in their bad horses and learn how to educate them.

He will be assisted in his afternoon of sport by a number of our promint men and after our cowboys have shown their methods of breaking bad horses he will demonstrate his method and all may judge for themselves which is the best.

Prof. Barry has many testimonials from towns in Alberta and other places, signed by hundreds of his pupils, from which we select the following from Barons, Alberta.

"We, the undersigned, wish to testify that Prof. Barry's cburse of instruction in horse training is all and more than it is advertised to be, the first lesson in our opinion being worth the amount he charges for his full course. The term or expression 'Horse Breaking' may and often does convey the idea that harsh or brutal treatment is necessary in the subduing of horses but Prof. Barry's system would commend itself to any humanitarian or member of the S.S.P.C.A. as he emphasises the importance of kindness in all his lessons. In conclusion we may say that Prof. Barry's system is a triumph of trained human intelligence over the animal mind, and is of inestimable value to anyone whose work or occupation makes it necessary for them to han lle horses. Signed; A. McLean Alex. Webster, W. McLean, Jos. A McKay, W. Clark, G. N. Annable, W. Curle, O D. Jones and other prominent farmers.

Prof. Barry first announced he would put on these sports Saturday but by request of a number of our business men postponed it to next Wednesday that all may attend,

Winter Rye Popular

Winter rye is rapidly gaining in popularity as a grain crop in many parts of the west. In a general way it is one of the most dependable crops that can be grown and year in and year out can be almost certainly relied on for a good average return. It is a crop that could be grown profitably on many farms where it is now unknown, either for grain or pasture. It will give a good account of itself as a crop to grow on weedy ground or soil that is not of the best quality, or on soil that has a tendency to blow. A lot of our light soils nowadays have a very decided tendency to blow. Fall rye is firmly enough established in the spring to hold securely a piece of land that no matter what it was seeded, to would in a bad year be a very difficult piece of land to do anything with. It yields well, too. Indian Head Experimental Farm in 1916 reported an average of 43 1-3 bushels per sore for seven years. There is no mystery about growing rye. The seed should be sown during the latter part of August at the rate of 1½ or 1¾ bushels per acre, if intended for grain, and at about 2 bushels per acre if intended for pasture. The crop is usually ready to cut for grain between the 15 and and 20 of July. If grown for pasture rye may be grazed the same fall it is sown and again as early in the spring as it is safe to turn stock to pasture. Winter rye has qualities as a grain and pasture crop that should commend its use on many farms where it is not new grown.

T. H. Beach has a quantity of rye seed for sale. See him.

The announcement of the death of Mrs. John Naylor in a Calgary hospital last Saturday morning, July 26th, is most deeply regretted, after an illness of about two months. She leaves to mourn her loss two small children, one aged about two months and the other two years, besides her husband and many other relatives and friends.

175th Battalion Reunion

The final arrangements for the reunion of the 175th Battalion, to be held in Medicine Hat on August 6th and 7th this year, have been completed, and the following program will be carried into effect:

August 6th at 7 p m. a meeting of the 175th will arrange for the depositing of the colors and transact other regimental business in the Curling rink. At 8 p.m. a smoking concert starts to which all returned men are invited and a good time is assured.

August 7th at 10 a.m. depositing of the colors of the battalion, 12:30 civic luncheon at the Curling rink, 2 p.m. picnic and sports, including a baseball game, and dancing during the evening.

All attending are advised that ribbon badges will be given out by the reception committee on arrival of trains, or same may be secured at the Clubrooms of the G.W.V.A. at any time during the two days.

Secretary W. H. Williams asks The Call to publish the foregoing at the request he says of a number of members of the 175th who are subscribers of this paper.

About 3 o'clock last Friday afternoon the heavest hail storm known in many years swept over Gleichen, breaking some windows in town and doing damage to some of our best crops. The storm came from the southwest and swept northeast, starting at Stobart lake it ran east about eight miles, reaching north to Hussar, but little damage is reported from Standard. Like most hail storms it swept some fields clean, damaged others and skipped some entirely. The full damage is still unknown, but the adjusters are busy. Unfortunately a numbr of farmers had a few hours previously cancelled their insurance.

"Well, I'm not wet, except for a little splashing," she said, "and you are. Does anything occur to you?" Without reply he walked stolidly into the cold water, took her in his arms and carried her ashore. The lariat was soon repaired and the car hauled to the ranch buildings without further mishap.

Later in the day he said to her, "Can you ride?"

"Some," she answered. "I have ridden city horses, but don't know about these ranch animals. You know, a city horse has to do as he is told, but a ranch horse seems to do pretty much as he likes. But I would like to try—if I had a saddle."

"I have an extra saddle," he said. "But it's a man's. . . . They all ride that way here."

She made no answer, and the subject was dropped for the time. But the next morning she saw Dave ride away, leading a horse by his side. He did not return until evening, but when he came the idle horse carried a saddle.

"It's a strad-legger," he said when he drew up beside Irene, "but it's a girl's. I couldn't find anything else in the whole diggin's."

"I'm sure it will do—splendidly—if I can just stick on," she replied. But another problem was already in her mind. It apparently had not occurred to Dave that women require special clothing for riding, especially if it's a "strad-legger." She opened her lips to mention this, then closed them again. He had been to enough trouble on her account. He had already spent a whole day scouring the country for a saddle. . . . She would manage some way.

Late that night she was busy with scissors and needle.

CHAPTER THREE

Dr. Hardy recovered from his injuries as rapidly as could be expected, and, while he chafed somewhat over spending his holidays under such circumstances, the time passed not unhappily. Had he sought the world over for a haven from the intrusion of business or professional cares he could have found it nowhere in greater perfection than in the foothill country centering about the Elden ranch. Here was an Arcadia where one might well return to the simple life; a little bay of still water sheltered from the onrushing tide of affairs by the warm brown prairies and the white-bosomed mountains towering through their draperies of blue-purple mist. It was life as far removed from his accustomed circles as if he had been suddenly spirited to a different planet. It was life without the contact of life, without the crowd and jostle and haste and gaety and despair that are called life; but the doctor wondered if, after all, it did not come nearer to filling the measure of experience—which is life.

A considerable acquaintanceship had sprung up between him and the senior Elden. The rancher had come from the east fort, years before, but in turning over their memories the two men found many links of association; third persons known to them both; places, even streets and houses common to their feet in early manhood; events of local history which each could recall, although from different angles. And Elden's life in the west had been a treasury of experience, in which he now dipped for the first time in years, regaling his guest with tales of the open range long before barbed wire had stuck its poisoned fang into the heart of the ranchman; tales of horse stealing and cattle rustling, with glimpses of sudden justice unrecorded in the official documents of the territory; of whiskey-running and excess and all those large adventures that drink the red blood of the wilderness. In his grizzled head and stooping frame he carried more experiences than would fill a dozen well-rounded city lives, and he had the story-teller's art which scorns to spoil dramatic effect by a too strict adherence to fact. But over one phase of his life he kept the curtain resolutely down. No ray of conversation would he admit into the more personal affairs of his heart, or of the woman who had been his wife, and even when the talk turned on the boy he quickly withdrew it to another topic, as though the subject were dangerous or distasteful. But once, after a long silence following such a diversion, had he betrayed himself into a whispered remark, an outburst of feeling rather than a communication. "I've been alone so much," he said. "It seems I have never been anything but alone. And—sooner or later—it gets you—it gets you."

"You have the boy," ventured the doctor.

"No," he answered, almost fiercely. "That would be different. I could stand it then. But I haven't got him, and I can't get him. He despises me because—because I take too much at times." He paused as though wondering whether to proceed with this unwonted confidence, but the ache in his heart insisted on its right to human sympathy. "No, it ain't that," he continued. "He despises me because he thinks I wasn't fair to his mother. He can't understand. He doesn't know yet that there's things—pulls and tugs of life, that lead a man as helpless as a steer chokin' in his lasso. I was like that. I wanted to be good to her, to be close to her. Then I took to booze, as natural as a steer under the brandin' iron roars to drown his hurt. But the boy don't understand." The old man got up and stood at the western window, watching the gold of approaching sunset gather on the mountains. "He despises me." Then, after a long silence, "No matter. I despise myself."

The doctor approached and placed a hand on his shoulder. But Elden was himself again. The curtains of his life, which he had drawn apart for a moment, he whipped together again rudely, almost viciously, and covered his confusion by plunging into a tale of how he had led a breed suspected of cattle rustling on a little canter of ten miles with a rope about his neck and the other end tied to the saddle. "He ran well," said the old man, chuckling still at the reminiscence. "And it was lucky he did. It was a strong rope."

The morning after Dave had brought in the borrowed saddle Irene appeared in a sort of bloomer suit, somewhat wonderfully contrived from the spare skirt to which allusion has been made, and announced a willingness to risk life and limb on any horse that Dave might select for that purpose. He provided her with a dependable mount, and their first journey, taken somewhat gingerly along the principal trail, was accomplished without incident. It was the forerunner of many others, plunging deeper and deeper into the fastnesses of the foothills, and even into the passes of the very mountains themselves. These long rides through the almost untracked wilderness, frequently along paths on which the element of danger was by no means a mere fancy, and into regions where the girl's sense of distance and direction were totally confused, afforded her many sidelights on the remarkable nature of her escort. His patience was infinite, and although there were no silk trappings to his courtesy, it was a very genuine and manly deference he paid her. She was quite sure that he would at any moment give his life if needed to defend her from injury—and accept the transaction as a matter of course. His physical endurance was inexhaustible, and his knowledge of prairie and foothill seemed to her almost uncanny. When she had been utterly lost for hours he would suddenly swing their horses' heads about and guide them home with the accuracy of the wild goose on its flights to the nesting grounds. He read every sign of footprint, leaf, water and sky with unfailing insight. He had no knowledge of books, and she had at first thought him ignorant, but as the days went by she had found in him a mine of wisdom which shamed her ready-made education.

After such a ride they one day dismounted in a grassy opening among the trees that bordered a mountain canyon. The waters of ages had chiselled a sharp passage through the rock, and the green stream now swirled in its rapid course a hundred feet below. Fragments of rock, loosened by the sun and wind and frost of centuries, had fallen from time to time, leaving sheltered nooks and shelves in the walls of the canyon. In one of these crevices they found a flat stone that gave comfortable seating, and here they rested while the horses browsed their afternoon meal on the grass above. Little irregular bits of stone had broken off the parent rock, and for a while they amused themselves with tossing these into the water. But both were conscious of a gradually increasing tension in the atmosphere. For days the boy had been moody. It was evident he was harboring something that was willing through his nature for expression, and Irene knew that this afternoon he would talk of more than trees and rocks and footprints of the wild things of the forest.

"Your father is gettin' along well," he said at length.

"Yes," she answered. "He has had a good holiday, even with his broken leg. He is looking ever so much better."

"You will be goin' away before long," he continued.

"Yes," she answered, soberly, and waited.

"Things about here ain't goin' to be the same after you're gone," he went on. He was avoiding her eyes and industriously throwing bits of crumbled rock into the canyon. He wore no coat, and the neck of his shirt was open, for the day was warm. Had he caught her side-long glances even his slow, self-deprecating mind must have read their admiration. But he kept his eyes fixed on the green water.

"You see," he said, "before you came it was different. I didn't know what I was missin', an' so it didn't matter. Not but what I was dog-sick of it at times, but still I thought I was livin',—thought this was life, and, of course, now I know it ain't. At least, it won't be after you're gone."

"That's strange," she said, not in direct answer to his remark, but as a soliloquy on it as she turned it over in her mind. "This life, now, seems empty to you. All my old life seems empty to me. This seems to me the real life, out here in the foothills, with the trees, and the mountains, and—and our horses, you know."

Watering Farm Horses

Farmers Should Take Water Into the Field

Walter Moore, a well-known writer, says:

"It is a common thing for farmers to work their horses in the hayfield from morning to night, watering them only at noon. This is done even on days of excessive heat. The driver usually has two or more refreshing drinks in the middle of the morning, and again in the afternoon; but the horses, who are equally as thirsty, go without. This want of water is not only distressing, but it causes the horses to drink to excess at noon and again at night, which often results in colic, and always tends to produce a distended stomach, or what farmers call a 'hay belly.' Farmers who would treat their horses humanely should take water into the field for them in hot weather."

Co-operative Live Stock Market

Farmers and others interested in the live stock industry in the country surrounding Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, are about to establish a co-operative company for the handling of livestock in that city. The activities of the company will include public stockyards, abbatoirs, chilling plants and all utilities necessary for the development of livestock and kindred industries, and it will be capitalized at $500,000.

It is estimated that about three thousand carloads of cattle pass through Saskatoon to Winnipeg every year, so there is plenty of scope for an undertaking of this kind.

China and Modern War Engines

Peking.—An expedition for the defence of the northwestern frontiers against General Semenoff's alleged aggression there is, perhaps, China's most modern military effort.

Five thousand troops drawn from contingents trained by the Japanese for the national defence army are being dispatched toward Urga. For the first time in Chinese history, automobiles in large numbers are being employed for the transportation of troops. It is expected that airplanes also will be utilized.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Huns Seeking Trade With Russian Soviet

Also Negotiate With New York Banks to Establish Credit

London.—The German government is believed to be trying to establish trade relations with soviet Russia, and a German mission has visited Russia, or is about to do so, Cecil Harmsworth, under-secretary, told the House of Commons.

Mr. Harmsworth said he had no exact information on the matter, but stated: "I believe it to be the case that the German government is endeavoring to enter into trade relations with soviet Russia and that a German industrial and commercial mission has visited, or is about to visit, soviet Russia."

New York. — Officials of the Deutsche Bank of Berlin have started negotiations with New York banks for establishment of credits for the benefit of German interests here. It is understood that the Deutsche bank officials are not acting for themselves alone, but are the spokesmen for the German government and the proposed German banking "kartel," which is being formed. Bankers have been given to understand that the amount is considerable, with $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 for a beginning.

English Women In Movies

Prominent War Workers Go Before Camera

Cinema acting as a spare-time occupation, according to the London Weekly Dispatch, has become the mania of women formerly engaged in war charities.

Elaborately attired in evening toilettes, they may be seen thronging to cinema studios at early hours, offering piquant contrast with the overalls and fustian of other wage-earners.

Among recent recruits are Mrs. James Maitland Macgill-Crichton and Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, daughter of the late Sir Charles Fairlie-Cunninghame. Even a certain member of parliament has booked up for a part as an elderly gentleman.

Up to Her

The young thing wafted into the photographer's and was taken up to the studio.

"I want my photo taken," she simpered. "You'll make me pretty, won't you?"

The photographer grunted.

"You'll see that it's a good likeness, won't you?" urged the girl.

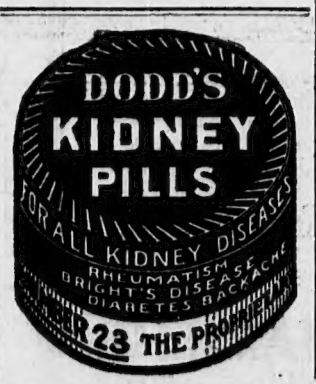

"Well, madam," said the man, "it's for you to decide which it shall be."

Attempt to Place Seized Bonds

Copenhagen, Denmark.—The Hungarian soviet government having attempted to place in Vienna 30,000 shares and foreign bonds worth some hundreds of millions of kronen which were seized in the vaults of Hungarian banks, the allied mission in Vienna has intervened and a mission will also be sent to Budapest to effect similar protection.

She: I was a fool to marry you.

He: No doubt; but I'm not willing to let you bear all the blame. I asked you to.—Boston Transcript.

Postal Workers Protest Dismissal

Deny Their Strike at Winnipeg Due to Sympathy With Soviet Ideas

Winnipeg.—Representatives of the Postal Workers' Union appeared before the Robson commission and made a statement protesting against the discrimination shown by the government in not reinstating the workers who had been on strike, and also putting on the record of the commission an emphatic denial that the postal workers, in declaring for the sympathetic strike, did so to support a movement for a soviet form of government in this city, or for any reactionary principles of an unconstitutional nature.

The statement was made by J. A. Elrick, general secretary of the Postal Workers' Union, who was supported by J. B. Johnson, one of the delegates who went to Ottawa, and W. J. Boyd, a member of the executive of the union.

Ernest Robinson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council of Winnipeg, also appeared before the commission and made a statement in which he condemned the discrimination being shown by employers in Winnipeg—including the city of Winnipeg—against men who had held official positions in the unions before the strike, and who had been strikers.

The witnesses were cross-examined by C. B. Wilson, K.C., who is assisting Commissioner Robson in taking evidence. None of them, however, were placed under oath.

The Hero Of Delhi

Veteran Soldier Who Earned Lasting Remembrance Died Recently

Today the Indian mutiny appears so distant as almost to be ancient history. Many of its episodes, however, rank among the more glorious achievements of the British army, and one of them was recalled the other day by the announcement of the death in Toronto of Luke Alfred Smith, a veteran soldier who earned lasting remembrance as one of the few survivors of the gallant forlorn hope that blew up the Cashmere Gate of Delhi. That city, since the great Durbar of 1911, held by the present King, the capital of India, was the stronghold of the mutineers, and its reduction became the key to the situation. Invested in June, 1857, by a small British force, whose numbers were later increased by reinforcements dispatched from the Punjab, which had been pacified and rendered friendly by the efforts of its wise administrator, John, afterwards Lord Lawrence, the city held out till September. Its fall was mainly due to the forlorn hope, composed of Lieutenants Home and Salkeld, Sergeants Smith and Carmichael, Corporal Burgess, Bugler Hawthorne and eight Sikhs.

Delhi was strongly fortified by an immense wall, protected by a deep ditch, divided by causeways providing access to the gates. The causeways had been ruined and the walls themselves proved almost impregnable. In these circumstances the desperate resolution was taken to blow up the Cashmere gate. Each of the volunteer party carried a bag with twenty-five pounds of gunpowder, and the ruined causeway was crossed under heavy fire. Piling their bags against the gate, Lieutenant Salkeld was shot through the arm and leg while lighting the fuse. His place was taken by Burgess, who was shot dead. Carmichael sprang to the bags, also to fall mortally wounded. Smith then ran forward, but observing that the fuse had been lit, he had just time to spring into the ditch when the charge exploded with a tremendous crash and the massive gate blew up. Bugler Hawthorne then sounded the advance, and the storming party, after desperate fighting, succeeded in establishing a hold on the ramparts. It was a stirring deed that will ever be featured in the annals of the Indian Empire.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Decorations for Canadian Aviators

London.—Canadian airmen decorated for services in Mesopotamia with the Belgian Croix de Guerre are: Lieuts. Roy Campbell, since killed, London, Ont.; Charles Albert Chrichton, missing since November, 1918, formerly a Canadian private; Richard Schroeder, formerly in the Canadian infantry, and Henry Cawling Wood, Toronto, who was severely wounded.

The Chevalier of the Royal Order of St. George has been awarded to Raymond Wilfred Kerr, Toronto, since killed.

"The man who gives in when he is wrong," said the street orator, "is a wise man; but he who gives in when he is right is—"

"Married!" said a meek voice in the crowd.

Unusual State Of Art In Japan

Realizing More Than Half a Million Dollars in Gold

Tokio, Japan.—The greatest art sale of the year in Nippon took place recently in this city, when the treasures of Marquis Ikeda, the feudal lord of Inaba Province, were sold at the Tokio Fine Art Club, realizing an enormous sum of 1,050,000 yen—more than half a million American dollars in gold. The sale consisted of 560 items, comprising paintings, lacquer and porcelain wares, armors and swords, and costumes, and masks of the "No" drama.

The most striking feature of this collection was the glory and splendor of color shown by a dozen suits of armor and helmets on one hand, and by over three hundred "No" costumes of rich brocade and exquisite embroidery on the other. One suggested countless tales of deeds of valor of the ancient heroes; the other showed the refined pastimes and accomplishments of Japanese warriors when not on battlefields, together showing the life of feudal Nippon.

One suit of armor and helmet, with scarlet silk cords and black lacquer over leather, decorated with gold and carved metal work, fetched the large sum of 38,900 yen (about $19,500). Another suit of armor and helmet, with purple silk cords, profusely decorated with chased copper, was sold for 12,000 yen.

The collection of "No" costumes of wonderful brocade and embroidery fetched an aggregate sum of 91,900 yen. Besides, there were nearly 800 "No" masks which realized about 40,000 yen. Some of these masks were excellent examples of Japanese wood carving, expressing sorrow, joy, anger—nearly every human mood.

It may be added here that "No" is a sort of opera, having been enjoyed for more than 500 years. While actors in theatres have long been looked down upon as of an inferior profession, "No" has always been held in national esteem, men of high ranks often participating in its performance.

Building Activity Maintained

Building permits to the value of nearly a million and a half dollars have been issued in Calgary this year as compared with somewhat over eight hundred thousand dollars worth in the corresponding period of last year. The value of the permits issued last month amounted to $380,000. Other cities throughout Western Canada report similar activity. This is a good start, but it is evident that the great work of reconstruction is not yet under way. There are signs, however, of still greater activity at no very distant future.

There Is Only One Genuine Aspirin

Only Tablets Marked With "Bayer Cross" Are Aspirin

If You Don't See the "Bayer Cross" on the Tablets, Refuse Them—They Are Not Aspirin at All

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Canadians and owned by a Canadian Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U.S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tables, also larger "Bayer" packages.

Aspirin is the trade mark, registered in Canada, of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Has Ruined Both Rich and Poor

If communism in Hungary has succeeded in putting the working classes on top and the moneyed and intellectual classes underneath, it might not be without its appeal. But it has done none of those things. It has ruined the rich, of course, but it has ruined the poor along with them. The man who was poor finds himself poorer and with no hope of bettering himself.

To the youth in love whose salary is $9 a week an ice cream sign looks like a nightmare.

Had a Very Bad Attack OF Bowel Complaint

IT WAS CURED BY DR. FOWLER'S Extract Of Wild Strawberry

Any one suffering from bowel complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, summer complaint, etc., will find that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will give quicker and more permanent relief than any other remedy on the market today.

This old tried and proven medicine has been on the market for the past 74 years. You don't experiment when you buy it. Surely the test of time proves this.

Mrs. Daniel Hartwick, Mountain Grove, Ont., writes: "I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and have found that it is a good remedy. When my little girl was 2½ years old she had a very bad attack of bowel complaint. Nothing prescribed by the doctor seemed to do her any good. She got worse, until we thought we would lose her. I got a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's,' and she soon found relief. Everyone who has children should not be without it in their home.

"Khaki College" Doing Valuable Work

System Adopted Is that of Free Tutorial Classes

Winnipeg, Man.—The "Khaki College" in connection with the University of Manitoba is doing valuable reconstruction work. At present there are 113 returned men taking the courses who would, in all probability, have thought it hopeless to go on with their education if it had been necessary to go back to high school or to resume at the university without this opportunity to gain time. The system adopted in the Khaki College is that of free tutorial classes.

Instead of drifting into occupations for the moment more lucrative, these returned men who left their studies to shoulder a rifle are being induced to resume their interrupted studies at a critical period in their lives, and are thus saved to the professions, preventing an incalculable loss to the province. Students can enter at any time, and are allowed to proceed to the next higher grade without the formality of an examination whenever the instructors deem them to be ready for promotion. The purpose of these tutorial courses is primarily to prepare the boys to re-enter the university regular classes next September, but it is thought that the Khaki College will carry on all winter.

It is a significant fact that the courses leading to a definite profession are better patronized than those leading to an arts degree. The courses leading toward engineering and law are most popular. One student is preparing himself for the diplomatic service.

Berlin People Urged To Show Restraint

And Not Allow Themselves to Be Incensed By Foreign Soldiers

London, Eng.—A German wireless message states that a reward of 10,000 marks has been offered for information leading to the arrest of the individual who killed a French soldier in Friedrichstrasse, and Berlin papers call upon the people to exercise restraint and not allow themselves to be incensed by provocative acts of foreign soldiers.

At the same time French soldiers are advised not to walk in Friedrichstrasse at night. The papers further state that no trouble has been caused by American and English soldiers, who show more restraint than the French.

Maintenance of War Alliance Urged

Paris.—The King of Italy has telegraphed to Raymond Poincare, President of France, expressing Italy's earnest desire for the maintenance in peace time of the alliance against the common enemy which proved so effective in war. Mr. Poincare replied, reciprocating his wish and stating that France would consider as sacrilege any attempt to relax after victory, the common bonds which united the two countries so closely during the war.

Army Deserting Bela Kun

Straggling Back From Fronts With Lack of Discipline

Paris.—Dispatches from Budapest indicate that general demoralization has struck Bela Kun's army, which is straggling back from the different fronts with utter lack of discipline.

The breakdown in the spirit of the troops is attributed to discontinuation of the fighting against the Czechs and the Rumanians in consequence of an armistice, and to the hasty increase of the well-drilled loyal army of 60,000 to more than 125,000 men.

For Sprains and Bruises. — There is nothing better for sprains and contusions than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain, will cool the inflamed flesh and draw the pain as if by magic. It will take the ache out of a bruise and prevent the flesh from discoloring. It seems as if there was magic in it, so speedily does the injury disappear under treatment.

Providing Recreation Facilities

Realising the necessity of providing citizens and especially children, with proper recreation facilities, the city of Winnipeg, Manitoba, plans to spend this year $209,469 on these operations. Approximately $119,511 will be spent for park purposes and probably $1,500 will be set aside for band concerts in the parks.

In addition $62,962 will be spent on baths, or $17,000 more than last year. An appropriation of $26,996 is planned for the playgrounds.

Winnipeg possesses some of the most beautiful parks to be found anywhere in a city of its size.

Decree Issued On Rule In Tripoli

Giving to the Natives Equal Rights With Italians

Washington, District of Columbia. —The Italian government has promulgated a decree giving to the natives of Tripoli equal rights with Italians, while maintaining their special rights and religious and social customs.

The decree also gives reasonable administrative autonomy, notably by means of a small local parliament, deliberative and elected, side by side with the governor and composed of citizens of all religions. This parliament has full powers with regard to local laws, direct taxation and administrative provisions.

A government council, presided over by the governor and made up of government officials, and members elected by the local parliament, expresses its opinion as to the choice of officials, which the governor appoints direct to the post of regional commissioner, delegate for a locality and district agent. Deliberative and elective councils help these officials in the administration of regions, localities and districts. The municipal authorities also comprise representatives of the population.

Members of all religions are to have a notable part in the administration of justice.

Airship Exhibition Into Labrador

To Make an Aerial Survey of Lumber Properties

St. John, New Brunswick. — Capt. Dan Owen, a Nova Scotian who served with the Royal Air Force in the war, and was for some time a prisoner in Germany, has been engaged by United States lumber interests to make an aerial survey of lumber properties in Labrador, and with a party of 20 assistants will shortly sail for Labrador from Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

The sea voyage north will be made in the steamer Granville, which has been chartered for the expedition. Two airships will be used by Captain Owen in making the survey — one a seaplane and the other a land plane. Photographs of the forests will be made from the planes and maps prepared of the different sections of timberland.

Among Captain Owens' assistants will be Joseph P. Halpin, a former St. John man, who was a member of the Royal Air Force during the war.

Italy May Lean On Germany

Will Look Upon Teutons as Their Staunchest Friends

New York.—There is a certain element of danger that the attitude of the allies will lead to such close relations between Germany and Italy that the latter country will come to look upon the Teutons as their staunchest friends, in the opinion of Thomas Nelson Page, who has just returned from Rome.

"I do not mean by this," Page said, "there there is a possibility of an alliance between the countries. I do not think there is. But Italy needs coal and raw materials of various sorts for her industries. Germany supplied a great part of them before the war and is making preparations to do it again. She will spend money developing Italian industries and will edge her way into favor."

Flying In India

Mail Service From India to Australia Being Considered

Great progress is being made in aviation in India. The government has under consideration a plan to establish an aerial mail service between Bombay, on the east coast, and Rangoon, in Burma. A further service from India to Australia is also being considered.

In August of last year Brig.-Gen. A. E. Borton and Capt. Ross Smith flew from England to Palestine, and, after the signing of the armistice, proceeded from Palestine to India. Later they returned to England, and afterwards flew from England to India. So far as actual flying time is concerned, they did the journey in 72 hours.

A Woman's Right To Propose

There Is a Serious Reason Why It Should Be Adopted

"Among the last rights of women to be fought for is the right to propose," says a V.A.D. home from the war.

It is the inevitable consequence of the vote and of the war. The position of woman with regard to marriage has entirely changed, and the sooner it is recognized the better. Up till now nice women have properly not proposed, because it meant virtually, "Will you keep me?"

Now that a woman can be as independent as a man she need have no scruples on that score.

In every other direction the position of men and women with regard to marriage is equal. It is quite ridiculous that it should be an honorable thing in a man to love a woman who does not return his affection, and yet be a disgrace to a woman to love unasked. A proposal from the man clears the air, and it would be the same with one from the woman.

In the present condition of things a woman often wastes the best years of her life on a hope. It would be much better if she could say in the beginning: "I like you, and if you like me as much as I like you, let us spend our lives together." It would be quite simple for the man to reply, if he were of a different mind: "I am sorry. Of course, I like you, but I do not feel like going into partnership."

The woman would then put him out of her mind and go about her business. Broken hearts heal in time, and it is possible that hearts would never get beyond the wounded stage if this plan were adopted.

There is a serious reason why it should be adopted. Some badly wounded men are feeling much as if they had changed places with the women. They do not have to say, "Will you keep me" when they propose, but what to them is almost as bad, "Will you keep yourself?"

It would be a great relief to many a crippled man in love if proposals were taken out of men's hands.

In the present circumstances no nice girl could bring herself to propose, however willing she is to keep herself, however much she loves the man.

Many War Prisoners

There Are Today 500,000 Russians Still in Germany

Few people realize how many prisoners were taken in this world's war; newspaper reports in big headlines gave us the account of many prisoners taken at once, but, as time went on, these great hauls were stored up in ever-increasing seas of humanity. In Germany alone at the signing of the armistice there were 1,500,000 Russian prisoners, 400,000 French, 100,000 English and 100,000 Italian and a mixture of Serbians, Portuguese and Chinese.

Today all the entente prisoners have been repatriated, with the exception of the Russians—poor devils, they have been in prison camps since 1914 and 1915. They were taken when they were our allies and we have greatly neglected them. You see very little about them in the newspapers, they have had no press agent, and their story is not good reading. When the armistice was signed there were over one and one-half million of these half-starved and neglected men in German camps. Official Germany wanted to get rid of them, they withdrew the guards; many started eastward toward their native country, half of them perished on the way. It is known that on one trainload there were seventy deaths, the bodies being thrown out along the tracks; those who did reach the Russian border were forced into the Red army and became Bolsheviki against their will.

There are today 500,000 Russians still in Germany, located at 25 different camps. In January last the entente authorities placed the feeding of these men in the hands of the Americans.

There are at the present moment over 400,000 Germans in France, 200,000 in England, 25,000 in Italy, and 50,000 in Siberia. These last were taken when the Russians were advancing through the Carpathian mountains towards the plains of German Austria; in Siberia alone in the vicinity of Tomsk and Krasnoiarsk, there are 400,000 Austrians; these were the figures in November, 1918, and no one knows how many have died of exposure and cold during the past winter, probably one-third.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A man should devote at least half of his time to minding his own business and the remainder to letting others alone.

Saskatchewan Land Inquiries

Saskatchewan Land Settlement Association Doing Good Work

Regina, Sask.—Much advertising is being given this province in the United States as the result of the work of the Saskatchewan Land Settlement Association, formed at the instigation of the Dominion Department of Immigration recently for the purpose of handling inquiries concerning farm lands received by the offices of the Canadian immigration authorities in the United States. During the past month 6,000 letters have been received by the association and distributed among the members, who under the provisions of the by-laws must answer the inquirers fully. From the nature of the letters received it is stated by the secretary of the association that conditions in this province are quite imperfectly understood in the United States.

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Germany Must Start Work Repairing France

Must Introduce Measures for Compulsory Work, if Necessary

Berlin. — Allied representatives have told the German delegates at Versailles, it is reported here in government circles, that Germany must be prepared to introduce measures for compulsory work, if necessary. This, it was said, was intended as a means of bringing about prompt execution of the reparation work in northern France, utilizing troops and a half million civilian laborers.

Officers here said the allied conferences on this subject were conducted in a friendly spirit. These officials agreed that Germany has a problem in her labor troubles.

It will have a capacity of 10,000 cubic feet, will be 1,100 feet long, 137 feet in diameter, and capable of lifting 100 tons, which would be more than double the lifting capacity of R-34, which has just made a round trip voyage across the Atlantic.

The cruising radius of the new dirigible, which will be finished in from 18 to 20 months, is given as 16,000 miles, and could, it is claimed, easily undertake the voyage from England to Australia.

Community Singing In The West

To Get a Wave of Community Singing Started

Everyone believes in community singing, but there seems to be a common uncertainty as to how to get it started. Considerable progress has been made in Manitoba, however. Community singing was introduced at the annual convention of women's institutes and at the Manitoba farm congress last February, and it was found that a twenty minutes' sing at the beginning of a session promoted a general feeling of friendliness and goodwill. During June, twelve district conventions for the women's institutes were held in different parts of the province, and community singing was a feature at all of them. The leaders were usually local singers. Song sheets were provided by the extension service of the department of agriculture. Sometimes the leader divided the audience into two or three groups and one competed against the other, to the amusement of everyone; on one occasion a few of the old-fashioned rounds were introduced and were most successful.

It shouldn't be very difficult to get a wave of community singing started in other provinces, and incidentally to sweep away a lot of undesirable feelings that people simply can't contain when they open their lungs and lift their voices and let themselves go with the spirit of the kind of song that would have a place in any well-planned community singing. —Farmers' Magazine.

Largs Sums For Stockyards Improvements

Between $250,000 and $300,000 is to be spent this year in improving and enlarging the Alberta Stock Yards at Calgary. The yards are to be paved, sewerage put in, and the whole of the older portion modernized as much as possible. Other improvements and extensions will be made from time to time as it is the intention that the stockyards shall be kept thoroughly abreast of the times, and the live stock business is constantly increasing.

Irrigation Is Unprofitable

Rainfall Farming And Irrigation Farming Compared

Our modern knowledge teaches that there is no essential difference between rian-fall farming and irrigation-farming, except in the manner in which water is applied to the soil," says Widsoe, in Principles of Irrigation Practice. "Every argument against the permanency of irrigation farming may be urged against rainfall farming; and every argument for the permanency of rainfall farming may be used with equal force on behalf of irrigation farming. The everlasting relationships among soils, waters and plants are the same over all the earth. Under irrigation the great water factor may be controlled, and thereby greater power for good or for evil is possessed by the farmer under the ditch."

In Alberta both rainfall farming and irrigation farming are successfully practised. The central and northern portions of the province usually have sufficient moisture every year to produce good crops; in parts of the south the rainfall cannot be relied upon in sufficient quantities every season to grow satisfactory crops, but where the natural rainfall may be supplemented by irrigation profitable crops can be and are being raised every year, for the conditions are ideal.

Irrigation Convention Opens on Monday

The thirteenth annual convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association opens at Medicine Hat next Monday, August 4th, and continues until Wednesday. A hearty invation is extended to all interested in irrigation and the management has already arranged with the hotels for accommodation, and advise those attending to at once communicate with Secretary C. A. Richardson.

The benefit this year of irrigation has been so thoroughly demonstrated here that a large attendance is expected from all over this province.

The convention will be addressed by many prominent men on subjects of interest to farmers generally and will include such topics as "Increasing Profits through the Silo," "Livestock on the Irrigated Farm," "Commercial Seed Growing", "Profitable Irrigation Crops", "Trees on the Farm." and many other subjects.

The second day of the Convention, August 5th, will be held at Ronalane Irrigated Farm, where a a practical demonstration will be given of farming under irrigation and field operations will be conducted in respect to the preparation of land.

Grossmith Recital Is Unique, Aug. 15

The appearance here of Leslie Grossmith on August 15th, the famous English entertainer, is arousing enthusiasm among the music loving people who are looking forward to a genuine musical treat and unusal enjoyment. The character of Mr. Grossmith's entertainments is absolutely unique.

A criticism of the recital given by Mr. Grossmith in Boston describes better than anything else possibly could the wonderful versatility of the man, as follows:

"Mr. Grossmith is both accomplished and versatile. He is not only a delineator of character, but a skilled musician as well, revealing his artistry as a mimic, as a pianist, as a monologist and as a monologist and as a composer. Everything in his repertory, with the exception of one or two musical compositions, is of a light and amusing nature. In fact Mr. Gressmith makes himself both engaging and jolly, with the result that the audience is much delighted with wholesome fun."

That business men in France are turning their attention to Canada as a source of supply more than before the war is empasized in the information reaching the Canadian Trade Commission. It appears that the participation of Canadian troops, many of them with a knowledge of French, has stimulated interest, and has been, so to speak, an advertising force for Dominion trade. A typical instance is quoted by the Commissioner general of Canada in France, who in describing the requirements of a large importing house says: "I sincerely believe that much sentiment exists here in France from the many interviews I have had and continue to have with men of all storts—business, commercial and professional. I believe that the sentiment exists that purchases would be much preferable from Canada than from the United States. There is a great deal of love for Canada shown and Canada has become known from the many lines of endeavor undertaken by the Canadian army."

Not so "dry" or plain dry since the hail.

Abe Tetley arrived back after spending his holidays in Bassano.

Major Rattry of Alix spent Sunday at the Palace, being the guest of Glen House.

Neal wants to know how many have seen bumper crops since the province went "dry".

S. M. Hogg passed through Gleichen on his way to Peace river, taking with him all his horses and cattle.

E. A. Smith of Ottawa was at the Palace early last week and reported crop conditions around Gleichen the best he had seen since leaving Indian Head.

Max Cowen bought up all the empty bottles in Gleichen last week. From the shipment he made no one would guess this an awful "dry" country.

A. L. Pellow and family arrived here last week from Portland, Oregon, to attend to his harvest operations and also imported an Aultman-Taylor engine.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kerstein in the loss of their infant daughter, Agness, on Sunday morning last from summer complaint. Aged seven months.

That Gleichen is be to kept clean is evident by the fact that one man has been fined $10 for keeping hogs within the town limits and another paid $5 for not removing a manure pile. This should be a warning to all others to pay attention to our town health laws.

Canada's Time Of Testing

Canadians have joyously and enthusiastically celebrated the signing of the Peace treaty. Canada's unprecedented army of some hundreds of thousands of men is all but completely demobilized, and the vast majority of the soldiers are again at work in civilian occupations. One by one, all the war time orders-in-council, regulations and prohibitions are passing away, and the Dominion is again rapidly being placed on a Peace basis. The acuteness of the sorrows caused by the war is being assuaged by that greatest of all healers, time, and the feelings of racial bitterness and even hatred which are aroused by war are fading.

The titanic struggle is already a matter of history, but while memory lasts people will remember the horrors and stress of the past five terrible years, and all future generations will be more or less affected by the experience through which mankind was called upon to pass. But while remembering these things, it is well that as a people we should keep even more vividly in our memories the recollection of the heights of loyal devotion to country to which people attained, the self-sacrifices they so freely and gladly made, the patriotic services they so splendidly rendered. During the war the people of Canada rose to undreamed of heights of greatness and achieved a national splendor of which any people might well be proud. In a word, Canada found its soul—something which in the more materialistic days of old this country seemed to lack.

In the past five trying years Canadians achieved confidence in themselves; they learned to do by doing. They discovered latent native ability and organizing capacity to do big things and do them well. In the stress and tumult of war they learned many lessons, not least of which was the discovery that for well-nigh fifty years the Canadian people had busied themselves, and quarrelled, and divided, over many petty matters and ideas and animosities of a long dead past. Canadians called their Dominion a nation, but it was not, and never could be while its people lacked national vision, a national outlook and truly national aspirations. The country was without a real inspiration. The war has supplied what Canada formerly lacked, and, lacking it, was weak and almost impotent in the world.

Are the Canadian people, who proved themselves so big and masterful in war, going to remain so in peace? Is this Dominion which has risen to a proud place among the nations going to retain that place, and, in the military language of the day, consolidate its position? Or are we going to slip back into the old narrow-mindedness which was the greatest handicap in the past?

During the war Canadians were patriots. Every man and woman ready and proud to render national service. Criticism was stilled, even though it might be fully justified. The chronic fault-finder found himself decidedly unpopular. Our people pulled together for the common good and the triumph of the common cause, instead of pulling against one another. The danger is that in the relaxation from war effort, and in the pleasant and less crucial days of peace, we fall back into old habits. Is it too much to hope and expect that the newer and better patriotism born of war will remain with us to flourish and develop throughout the gladsome days of peace?

Canadian patriotism stood the test of war, but the real test of the patriotism of the people of this Dominion will come in the years of peace upon which we have now entered. It will be a sterner test, lacking, as it will, the incentive of a great struggle to win, a glorious victory to achieve. It will call for infinite patience and hard work. Yet, after all, the prize to be won is something finer, better, more lasting than the prize of victorious war.

The winning of the war, to which the people of Canada were willing to bend all their energies, and in the accomplishment of which no sacrifice was too great and no service too arduous, guaranteed to us and our children their independence and liberties and the blessings of Christian civilization.

But the possession of these priceless things will be of little value to us unless we use them as we ought. Rather will their possession prove our own condemnation if we do not worthily employ them to make Canada truly great and a benefactor among the nations. We enjoy independence to develop our country for weal or for woe, to create and firmly establish a nation renowned for reform and advancement, for the elimination of social ills, for the splendor of its education; we enjoy the widest liberty to do good, not license to do evil.

With the dawning of this new era of peace, Canadians should practice self-control and continued self-denial. They should find the same gratification in rendering service to the nation now as in the days of war. They should be patient and earnest in instituting reforms, but impatient with all wrongs. In a word, Canada needs, and needs badly, the war spirit of the country and its people carried into all the activities of the years of peace.

Marshal Foch and the Canadians

A writer in the Canadian Military Gazette declares he has the following story from a gentleman in whose word he has absolute confidence: Shortly after the armistice a private luncheon was given by a lady in Paris to a number of her friends, of whom Marshal Foch was one. In the course of conversation the lady said: "Marshal, will you tell us who were your best soldiers?" He replied, "Madam, that is a hard question. To begin with, I must not speak of my own poilus. But you have asked, and I shall answer—Mes enfants cheris sont les Canadiens" (my dear children are the Canadians). The point to note is that Foch was not speaking for publication, but at a private gathering and amongst his fellow-countrymen only.

British Aeroplanes To Try Pacific Ocean

Will Start as Early as Arrangements Can Be Perfected

San Diego, California.—Capt. William McDonald, of Melbourne, Australia, authorizes the statement that several British aeroplanes will start across the Pacific Ocean on Aug. 15 or as early thereafter as arrangements can be perfected. The take-off will be from this city, the destination Australia. The captain, who was in the Canadian air service, will pilot one of the machines. Stops will be made at Honolulu, at a British island near Guam, and at Nagasaki.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Only in Rare Cases Does Backache Mean Kidney Trouble

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment, and the result is a sensation of pain in those muscles. Some people think pain in the back means kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never has anything to do with the kidneys. Organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. This being the case, pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of his blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the sensation of pain in the ill-nourished muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst. But in any event to be perfectly healthy you must keep the blood in good condition, and for this purpose no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

British Farmers' Gift To France

Have Sent Consignment of Livestock to Peasants

British farmers have just sent through the medium of the agricultural relief committee an important consignment of livestock to peasants returning to their farms in France in the neighborhood of the battle zone. The gift comprises 37 pedigreed dairy Shorthorn bulls, 235 heifers and 1,000 head of poultry, which are to be distributed in the department of the Somme. Further consignments of cattle are about to be made to France, and later on it is intended to send sheep and pigs of suitable English breeds.

French Bill Would Help Shopkeeping

Whose Businesses Have Been Destroyed By Reason of War

Paris, France.—Mr. Etienne Clementel, minister of commerce, has introduced in the Chamber of Deputies a bill providing for the opening of credit for 100,000,000 francs in favor of the small shopkeepers, manufacturers and workmen whose businesses have been destroyed, or who have been placed out of work by reason of war.

Mr. Clementel, in introducing the bill, said that artisans and small shopkeepers were in a more difficult position than any other demobilized class. The means of livelihood has disappeared as well as custom. The chamber had already voted 12,000,000 francs toward a people's bank. A great effort was being made by the chambers of commerce prefects to meet the need of the personnel, and already seven people's banks were established and 38 were being organized.

The bill provided that each cover 12 years if necessary, and amount to 25,000 francs. It was adopted by the chamber.

Austrailan Premier Is Assaulted

Extraordinary Outbreak Among Returned Soldiers With Grievances

Melbourne.—As the outcome of a stormy interview between H. S. W. Lawson, Premier of Victoria, and a deputation of soldiers in the Premier's office, the Premier was struck on the head and cut by an inkwell, thrown by one of the soldiers. The men then proceeded to pitch the office furniture into the streets and tore up important official documents. The police dispersed the rioters and arrested five of them. Later a crowd attempted to rush the watch house near by and stoned the police, but was dispersed with several casualties.

The difficulty had its origin when a crowd, including returned soldiers and sailors attempted to rush a military barracks. Shots were fired and a passing soldier was killed. There were several arrests made, and afterwards excited meetings of soldiers were held, at which the police methods were denounced.

Representatives of the soldiers went to Premier Lawson's office and demanded release of the men arrested. The Premier promised to make an enquiry into the affair, but this did not satisfy the men, and the inkwell throwing and other disorders followed.

British Columbia's Oil Prospects

To Make Examination of Alberta's Possibilities

Edmonton, Alta.—Prof. J. C. Gwillim, of the mining engineering department of the Queen's University, Kingston, has undertaken to make for the British Columbia government a survey of the western Peace River district at the headwaters of the Peace River, and with a party has gone north for this purpose. The particular object of the survey is to ascertain the oil possibilities of that region. There is a belief among geologists and prospectors that the country has petroleum as well as the Alberta section, and Professor Gwillim's work will be to investigate the lay of the land and make a report to the coast government. The professor had undertaken this survey before being requested by the Alberta government to make an examination of Alberta's iron possibilities.

For the purpose of furnishing a complete geological map of the country through which the Smoky and Little Smoky rivers flow, Prof. F. H. McLaren, of the Canadian geological survey, has gone north with a party of four men, to carry to a conclusion the work commenced last summer.

Opportunities In The Sheep Business

Western Canada Offers Ideal Conditions for Sheep Raisers

There never was a better chance for the development of the sheep industry than there is in Western Canada today. Mutton and wool are both in great demand and will continue so while the livestock shortage in Europe prevails. This shortage is not likely to be relieved for many years. In the meantime the farmer with a few sheep will be able to make good profits, which, if he is a beginner, will go a long way towards helping him to get firmly established. Farmers who have followed sheep-raising in many lands before settling in Western Canada claim they know of no country where sheep thrive so well as here.

No War Of Revenge

Bernstorff Says That Huns Are Now Thoroughly Tamed.

Berlin. — Count Von Bernstorff, speaking at a Democratic party meeting, said Germany must never forget that a world policy such as was engineered before the war has become impossible.

"Whoever lives in Germany," he said, "knows that we neither want nor can we conduct a war of revenge."

Count Von Bernstorff asserted that while the League of Nations was regarded in Germany as a holy alliance aimed at Germany, and that without Germany, Austria and Russia it would be a mere fiasco, it will resume its real function when Germany enters it, of combining all the people's energies.

The colonel beckoned to his orderly.

"Smith, I wish you'd ride into the town and get the correct time."

"Why, sir," Smith hesitated, "I haven't got a watch."

"A watch; a watch!" roared the colonel. "What in the name of sense do you want a watch for? Write it down on a piece of paper, man."

Russian Prisoners In Germany

Allies, Who Are Feeding Them, Find Them Burdensome Problem on Their Hands

Paris.—The supreme council have discussed the disposition of 240,000 Russian prisoners of war who are still in Germany. These prisoners were held by Germany at the request of the allies after the armistice, and have been fed at the expense of the entente allies.

As many of them were badly infected with Bolshevism, Poland and other countries through which they would go on their way back to Russia have objected to giving them passage for fear of Bolshevik propaganda. Moreover, it is held, they would be either forced into the Bolshevik army or killed if they went home. The expense of maintaining them in Germany, however, is becoming burdensome. The council was unable to reach a decision without further information concerning the military phase of the situation, and referred the question to its military advisers for a report.

Japan's Greater Navy

Tokio.—The naval department has drawn up a three years' building program, according to the newspaper Nichi Nichi. The new constitution includes two battle cruisers, each of 40,000 tons, and numerous smaller craft.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

LEMON JUICE IS FRECKLE REMOVER

Girls! Make This Cheap Beauty Lotion to Clear and Whiten Your Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear, and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Official Note Issued

Authorizing Resumption of Commercial Relations Between France and Germany

Paris, France.—The French official note authorizing the resumption of commercial relations between France and Germany was issued here, to be effective at once. The note prescribes regulations and provides for the issuance of permits on certain classes of merchandise.

The regulations require that permits be obtained for the exportation to Germany of any merchandise on the prohibited list No merchandise originating in or coming from Germany may be imported into France without a special permit from the Minister of Finance and the minister of that department of the government particularly interested in the product.

The German delegation at Versailles was informed in a letter from the peace conference that the ratification of the treaty by Germany had been accepted and that the raising of the blockade was about to take place. The Inter-allied Supreme Council met to discuss the blockade question.

So far as the action of the council concerns France, the measure will be effective only after publication in the Journal Officiel of a decree annulling the preceding decrees regarding the blockade.

Don't Hawk, Blow, Sneeze, or Cough Use "Catarrhozone"

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag—when later on they infest the bronchial tubes—how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

But Catarrhozone goes everywhere—gets right after the germs—kills them—heals the soreness—cures the inflammation—makes Catarrh disappear. Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Large size costs $1.00 and contains two months' treatment; smaller sizes 25c and 50c, all druggists and storekeepers.

Food Prices Will Be Higher In Britain

Public Told It Cannot Afford to Squander Wealth as It Is Now Doing

London.—Prophecy that the price of food next winter will "climb to a level never dreamed of" was uttered by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British minister of reconstruction, in an address at Crewe recently.

A member of the audience shouted "More wages." Sir Auckland replied that there would be no money to pay wages because it would have to go overseas to pay for food.

The minister warned the public that it was squandering its money in a colossal way on things that did not matter.

"You cannot live like millionaires," he said, "if you are as poor as a church mouse. This nation is now poor. It is living as if it were wealthy."

Do not allow worms to sap the vitality of your children. If not attended to, worms may work irreparable harm to the constitution of the infant. The little sufferers cannot voice their ailment, but there are many signs by which mothers are made aware that a dose of Miller's Worm Powder is necessary. These powders act quickly and will expel worms from the system without any inconvenience to the child.

General Smuts Talks On European Troubles

Strongly Urges Leaving Russia to Settle Her Own Affairs

London.—Lieut.-Gen. Smuts, of the Union of South Africa, and member of the British Peace delegation, in a farewell message, advocates appeasement and reconciliation with Germany and encouragement of the "present moderate Republican administration in Germany, which is successfully fighting the European battle against anarchy."

General Smuts strongly urges leaving Russia to settle her own affairs, on the ground "that a sobered soviet system may be better than barbarism, to which the present policy seems inevitably to be tending," and declares that British statesmen should apply the same medicine to Ireland that they applied to Bohemia.

Pigeon Races

Winging through the air at an average speed of nearly 45 miles an hour, sixty racing pigeons flew from Scott, Saskatchewan, to Edmonton, a distance of 225 miles, recently. The race was one of the weekly series put on by members of the Edmonton Homing Association. Out of the 60 birds released at Scott at nine in the morning, seven had reached Edmonton, within a few minutes of each other, about half-past two o'clock in the afternoon. The first pigeon to reach its home loft was one owned by William Ruff.

Don't get too swift; you can walk farther in a day than you can run.

The case with which corns and warts can be removed by Holloway's Corn Cure is the strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

A fervent, but unlettered preacher among the mountain whites of the Carolinas was exhorting his flock to come forward and take advantage of the "means of grace." "It air pride that's keeping you settin' in yore seats," he cried, "come to the altar and get down on your benders, and if they air too stiff with pride, ile 'em, ile 'em, as it says in the Scriptur', with the ile of Patmos."

A Mild Pill for Delicate Women.—The most delicate woman can undergo a course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills without fear of unpleasant consequences. Their action, while wholly effective, is mild and agreeable. No violent pains or purgings follow their use, as thousands of women who have used them can testify. They are, therefore strongly recommended to women, who are more prone to disorders of the digestive organs than men.

Keep The Weeds Down

Constant Attention is the Only Remedy

Weeds will grow where anything else will grow. If they are not destroyed they will ruin any crop. Survival of the fittest is an inexorable law of nature, and the weed, being propagated by natural methods, has an immense advantage in competition with a cultivated crop.

Constant attention is the only remedy. Once the crop is sufficiently above ground to be distinguishable, cultivation of the soil to kill the weeds should be commenced and should be continued till the crop is high enough to crowd the weeds out. This cultivation is also necessary for good growth, as it permits the soil to retain moisture during dry weather and leaves the surface in better condition to absorb rainfall.

Number Of Strikes Now Decreasing

A marked drain in industrial strife is the feature of the labor situation at present, the number of large strikes under way being few as compared with a few weeks ago. In a number of cases where steps were being taken to name boards of conciliation, there are good prospects of settlements being arrived at by negotiations.

English Education

The excellence of English education has always been this—that it taught men "how to get on with other men," but not so that they might get the better of other men. If once that became the aim, the secret of getting on, the secret of fellowship, would be lost. The English morality, in so far as it has a peculiar excellence—its sense of honor, of loyalty, of essential good manners — is always a morality of fellowship desired for its own sake.

Even the man who never fails to keep his appointments is apt to fall down when it comes to answering friendship letters.

May Not Hold Trial In London

London.—It is possible that former Emperor William may not be tried in London, according to an announcement made in the House of Lords by Earl Curzon, government leader in the upper house.

The Lords passed the peace treaty and the Anglo-French treaty through all stages. In the course of discussion, Viscount Bryce deprecated holding the trial of the former German Emperor at London.

Baron Buckmaster said there were grave reasons why the government ought not to pursue any further the project of trying the German war lord. It was certainly unfitting, he declared, to ask an English judge to sit on such a tribunal to administer a law he does not know by procedure and has never been defined, in a court he does not control.

In his reply, Earl Curzon said he thought the kaiser in exile in no way comparable with Charles I. or Napoleon. He was unable to imagine that a man who ignominously fled his country could be turned into a martyr or a hero by a trial, while his continued presence near the German border might be a political danger.

It might be, however, that the trial would be held in London. No final decision has been reached, and the chances of the trial becoming a spectacular show and disturbing public opinion and the daily national life were important considerations. Even if the trial were within the sphere of Britain, it by no means followed that London would be the place selected.

Resume Trade With Germany

Traders of World Rush in With First Raising of the Allied Blockade

Berlin.—The first results of the raising of the blockade, says the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, is the flooding of Cologne with foreign goods.

"French firms," the newspaper adds, "are offering hundreds of thousands of kilograms of cocoa powder, chocolate, coffee, ox fat, pork fat, macaroni and toilet soaps. German imports companies have been offered large quantities of corn starch and cocoa, hundreds of carloads of white beans and Chinese yellow peas, and raw coffee and chocolate in huge quantities.

"The American offers include bacon, olive oil, rubber coats, steam turbines, automobile machinery, various oils and vaseline.

"An Anglo-Japanese firm offers the direct importation of borax, paraffin, resin, flax oil, shellac and soap."

Cutting Wheat Near Brandon

Brandon.—Robert Roddick, farmer, of Brandon Hills, is cutting wheat. He commenced on a field that was sown on April 15. It is said to be the finest crop since 1914. It is 30 years since wheat was cut in this particular district during July. Wheat fields in the Assiniboine River Valley are ripening fast.

Paris Honored Victim

Paris.—Paris honored the memory of Sgt. Paul Mannheim, of the French army, who was murdered in Berlin on July 13. The burial of Sgt. Mannheim took place at the Pere Lachaise cemetery. Great crowds followed the funeral procession, in which President Poincare and Premier Clemenceau were represented.

Fatal Airplane Accident

Lieut. W. R. Cross and Wife of Aviator Kerr Instantly Killed

Portage La Prairie.—Lieut. W. R. "Buster" Cross and Mrs. S. P. Kerr are dead and Lieut. S. P. Kerr, of the Veteran Airplane company, of Winnipeg, is in the Portage general hospital in a precarious condition as the result of a nose dive made by his machine about two miles north of this city. How the accident happened cannot be learned except from those who saw the machine come down, and they state that the engine stopped of a sudden, the nose of the machine turned earthward and it came down with a crash.

Lieut. Kerr and party arrived here from Winnipeg with their machine, and had arranged to proceed to the Brandon exhibition. They made an early start, but had some kind of trouble west of the city and were forced to land in a plowed field, necessitating assistance in getting out. Nothing more was heard of them until they were observed flying north of the city, heading evidently for the landing place used during the visit here exhibition week. They were flying at an altitude of about 200 feet, when of a sudden the engine stopped and the plane came down on the farm of the Home for Incurables.

It is surmised that, flying so close to the ground, Lieut. Kerr, who was running the machine, did not have time to straighten out before the crash came. The nose of the machine crashed into the ground and drove the engine in on top of Mrs. Kerr and Lt. Cross, who were in the front seat, and when taken out they were crushed almost beyond recognition. When the machine struck, Lieut. Kerr, who was in the back seat looking after the control, bounced out and landed clear of the machine, but he was unconscious when picked up, and rushed to the hospital.

Parts of the machine had to be torn away to get the bodies of Mrs. Kerr and Lieut. Cross out of the wreckage, but there was no sign of life, and they must have been instantly killed.

The machine was what is known as the L.W.F. war type, 145 horsepower, and has 48-foot wing span.

Honorary Degree Recipients

Given to Leaders in War By Cambridge University

Cambridge, England.—General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian forces, was among those who received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Cambridge University. The ceremony took place in the senate house, which was crowded mostly with undergraduates dressed in military and naval uniforms for the occasion. The vice-chancellor of the university, Dr. Arthur E. Shipley, of Christ College, presided.

Among the various recipients of the degree were Admirals Sturdee and Wemyss, and Generals Rawlinson, Birdwood, Wilson, Herne, Monass, the Earl of Cavan and Gen. Pershing.

The vice-chancellor then entertained the party at luncheon in Christ College hall, to which they walked through the rain, the students following and cheering. Gen. Birdwood was carried shoulder high by the youths.

Retirement Checks For Postal Workers

Fund Taken From Their Pay Will Be Returned as Sign of End

Winnipeg. — Retirement cheques which are due the postal workers who lost their positions as a result of the strike will be mailed from Ottawa within the next few days, according to a telegram which J. A. Elrick, general secretary of the Amalgamated Postal Workers, received from the Deputy Postmaster-General at Ottawa. The average amount of the cheques is about $400.

The message Mr. Elrick received was as follows: "Retirement fund cheques are being issued with all possible expedition, and will mostly be sent this week."

Mr. Elrick explained that the money that was being sent was the late postal workers' own money. It represented the five per cent. which had been deducted from their wages from the time they had joined the service, this retirement fund system having been adopted in place of a pension system.

British Fleet Is Against Bolshevism

Warships Kept in Baltic and Ceaselessly Active—Some Also in Caspian Sea

London.—In the House of Commons, Right Hon. Walter Hume Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, stated that British warships were kept in the Baltic in order to prevent unprovoked Bolshevik raids on the coast towns of the Baltic states and Finland, interference with the feeding of the population and the spread of Bolsehvik militarism. He was satisfied the forces were sufficient.

Mr. Long said a British naval force had been operating in the Caspian Sea since August, 1918, against many Bolshevik armed merchantmen, destroyers and submarines. The operations would be concluded and the personnel withdrawn before the winter.

Bulgars Attack French Regiment

Lively Fusilade Ensued and Three French Soldiers Were Killed

Geneva.—As the result of an attack on French soldiers by Bulgarians, a French regiment has arrived at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, to disarm the local garrison, according to the Rumanian bureau at Berne.

The French contingent, the bureau states, is supplied with an equipment of rapid fire guns to sustain it in its task of restoring order.

The skirmish occurred as the regiment was landing at Lompalanka, on the Danube, 22 miles southeast of Vidin, a few days ago, according to a dispatch from Belgrade. A lively fusilade ensued, lasting three hours. Three French soldiers were killed.

Britain Will Protect People

Confusion and Disorder Resultant From Strikes

London.—The whole force of the British government will be executed to protect the people from any undue pressure, Andrew Bonar Law, government leader, told the House of Commons when asked what was being done regarding the confusion and disorder resultant from workers' and miners' strikes.

"The government is well aware that there are a number of people—not a very large number fortunately—who are aiming at the destruction of our whole social and political situation," Mr. Bonar Law added. As to the agitators, he said: "The government is not overlooking these people."

Coal Famine Threatens London

London.—A decision by the government that not more than 200 pounds of coal may be delivered to a private residence weekly threatens a stoppage of coal deliveries in London, except in urgent cases. Coal dealers says they cannot deliver such small quantities, as it would take 20 trips to deliver the usual load of two tons. Much of the trucking in London is dependent on coal.

Upper Silesia to Be Independent

Berlin.—Upper Silesia, in the event that it is decided under the plebiscite to remain German, will become an independent autonomous province, according to an official announcement. The vote will be taken in the entire government and district of Oppelin.

Grotkau, Neisse and a part of the Neustadt and Zuelzerland districts will remain German and part of the Ramstau district will go to Poland without a plebiscite.

Awaiting Proclamation Of Peace At Ottawa

Ottawa in Throes of Doubt as to When War Measures Act Expires

Ottawa.—Parliament will be in session again before the War Measures Act expires, and with it the race track betting, prohibition and other war-time orders-in-council passed under its provisions. Such is the understanding here, and was the understanding when parliament prorogued a fortnight ago. At that time the final complete text of the peace treaty with Germany had not been received in Ottawa, and therefore could not be submitted to parliament for ratification. Drafts as prepared had been received and changes made are cabled from Paris. It was not till the arrival in Ottawa of Hon. C. J. Doherty, who with Hon. A. L. Sifton signed the treaty for Canada, that the text as signed at Versailles was available. The understanding with the British government when Sir Robert Borden left London was that there would be no proclamation of peace by Britain for some time, and at any rate not till the Canadian parliament had full opportunity to ratify.

Since then, however, greater necessity has apparently arisen in Great Britain for an early proclamation that a state of war no longer exists. It is understood that the government here is in communication with the imperial authorities on the subject and that stress is being laid on the necessity for full opportunity being given to the Dominion parliament for discussion of the treaty's terms before formal proclamation of peace by the King. Notice has already been given of a special session in the fall for ratification.

While the question has not been discussed in cabinet as yet, it is probable that the date of opening will be advanced a week or two to avoid any unnecessary delay. But that peace will be officially proclaimed before the Dominion parliament can be summoned is regarded here as extremely unlikely.

The point raised by Sir A. B. Aylesworth that the war time orders-in-council, notwithstanding their own provisions, will not be operative after expiry of the War Measures Act is generally conceded. A similar opinion was given by a committee of legal experts in Great Britain with regard to orders-in-council passed under the Defence of the Realm Act.

It is pointed out that under the treaty with Germany peace cannot be proclaimed until after ratification by Germany and by three of the principal allied and associated powers. The principal allied and associated powers are defined in the treaty as U.S., British Empire, France, Italy and Japan. Ratification of the treaty with Germany alone is not regarded as being sufficient to end the war and the War Measures Act. There will be also need to be ratification of peace with Austria. Peace with Germany would be merely a partial peace. But whether ratifications of the peace with Bulgaria and Turkey first would be necessary in so far as the termination of the War Measures Act is concerned is regarded as somewhat doubtful. There is little likelihood, in actual practice, of much difference in time between the proclamation of peace in Great Britain and its proclamation in Canada by the governor-general.

Canadians Sentenced In England

End of Trial of Seven in Connection With Death of Epsom Policeman

London.—At the Surrey assizes Bugler Robert Todd and Private E. A. McAllan, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, were found not guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Police Sergeant Green at Epsom and discharged. Privates F. H. Wilkie, 102nd Canadian Battn.; J. Connors, 113th Canadian Highlanders; A. McMaster, 3rd Canadian Reserve, and D. Yerex and A. Masse, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, were found guilty and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labor.

No Trace of Nipigon Man

Fort William, Ont.—Another day's sun has set and still the second man implicated in the murder of Constable Armstrong at Nipigon is at large. Apparently there has been no sign of him, although the search of Inspector Symons, Sergeant Burleigh and members of the local police forces, Mounted Police, Dominion, provincial and railway police, has been ceaseless in the vigilance for him and are still scouring the woods between Port Arthur and Wild Goose Point.

Strikers On Trial At Winnipeg

Winnipeg Strike Leaders Laugh at Evidence Tendered on Conspiracy

Winnipeg.—A secret service whose ramifications extended even into the carefully-guarded precincts of the labor temple was named as the source of evidence of an actual revolution by Sergt. A. E. Reames, chief of the Manitoba Royal Northwest Mounted Police secret service, at the preliminary trial of eight labor leaders charged with seditious conspiracy.

The accused, R. B. Russell, W. M. Ivens, W. A. Pritchard, R. J. Johns, Aldermen A. A. Heaps and John Queen, George Armstrong and R. E. Bray, maintained the attitude they adopted at the first sessions; they laughed outright at some of the evidence and continually passed laughing whispers.

"Reports I had from reliable agents were to the effect that there was a revolution in the making," Sergt. Reames declared, under cross-examination by E. J. Murray. He reiterated quotations from speeches by Wm. Ivens and Geo. Armstrong which counselled revolution. He said he believed the speeches were contributary causes to the general strike.

"I was not surprised that the strike was peaceful at first," he said. "It would have remained so if the strike committee could have retained control of everything in the city under the labor temple permit system. They wanted peace for a purpose."

Evidence of an independent witness, Joseph T. Hill, who had attended a meeting the day before the first riot, brought out the fact that Wm. Ivens had told a large gathering of ignorant foreigners that their homes were in danger of violation by the special police. Mr. Ivens told a story of a special policeman stealing money from a striker's wife and children under threat of his baton. When the special police had been attacked the next day, the witness had thought it his duty to report Ivens' speech to the police. He said he believed it was contributory to the riots, and was "vicious and that its effect at that time would be particularly bad." He said he had been shocked and horrified at the thought of a man having so little sense that he would make such an inflammatory address to such an audience.

Political Landslide In Prince Edward Island

Charlottetown, P.E.I. — Liberals swept the province in the general elections, capturing 26 seats out of 30.

The only Conservative survivors of the debacle were Hon. Arsenault, premier; Hon. James A. McNeill, commissioner of public works, and H. F. Murdock Kennedy, without portfolio, and J. D. Stewart McKinnon, commissioner of agriculture, was defeated.

This was the most one-sided election since Confederation, with the exception of 1911, when the Liberals won only two seats. When the house dissolved, the parties stood: Conservatives, 18; Liberals, 11; and one seat vacant.

The Liberals elected are: Bell, Lea, Gallant, Metherall, Sanders, Dennis, McLean, McArthur, Crosby Hughes, Lepage, Brodie D. MacDonald, Nash, Irving, Higgs, Duffy, D. C. MacDonald, Acorn, Cox, McIntyre, Johnston, Dewar, Sutherland, Butler and Hessian.

Such a sweeping victory was unexpected by both sides, although the result of the federal elections, when four Liberals got a majority of home votes, afterwards changed by the soldiers' votes, foreshadowed a Conservative defeat. The returned soldiers did not take an active part in the contest, but it is evident that a majority voted Liberal. Fine weather brought out a large vote. There was a big turnover in Charlottetown, the Liberals capturing both seats by large majorities, labor going with the opposition.

Dissatisfaction with the administration of the public works department, especially the neglect of roads, with the administration of the agricultural department, and with the proposal of the government to levy additional taxation told against the Conservatives. People also looked with disfavor upon the highway bill, fearing that payment of the sixty per cent. asked for by the federal government would be too heavy a burden.

The French government has conferred the Medaille Militaire, its highest decoration for an enlisted man, on a negro corporal of the 372nd Infantry, who was formerly a waiter in a Boston restaurant. Heroism, as the war has abundantly shown, has nothing to do with race, color or previous condition of servitude.

Serious Disorders In Upper Egypt

London.—Eight hundred natives were killed and 1,600 wounded during the recent disturbances in Egypt, according to dispatches from General E. H. Allenby, Col. Harmsworth, under secretary of the foreign office, announced in the House of Commons.

The casualties to European and other civilians were:

Killed, 31; wounded, 35.

The casualties to the military were:

Killed, 29; wounded, 114.

The death sentence was imposed on 39 natives; detention for life, 26. Upwards of 1,000 were sentenced to short terms of imprisonment. The military courts have been dispensed with, the sentences which they imposed being reduced by three months.

Lenine Wants Peace With Rumania

Makes Concessions for Armistice, But Ties Serious String to Proposals

London.—A Bolsheviki delegation has arrived at Kishineff with an offer of peace to the commander of the Rumanian troops on behalf of Nikolai Lenine, the Bolsheviki premier, according to a Berlin government wireless dispatch.

Lenine offers to cede Bessarabia to Rumania on condition that Rumania shall prohibit Ukrainian citizens and bands of Admiral Kolchak, head of the all-Russian government at Omsk, from crossing the Rumanian frontier.

An armistice to last eight days has been concluded on the Bessaragian front, and the delegation has gone to Rumanian headquarters.

Victory For Clemenceau

Great Success of Premier Clemenceau When He Won a Vote of Confidence

Paris.—All newspapers, excepting those distinctly hostile to the government, comment upon the great success of Premier Clemenceau when he won a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies. Some papers make the point that the result shows the vote, in which the government was in the minority, was not aimed at the government, but was intended to obtain a more energetic policy designed to end the high cost of living, which, it was declared, threatened to paralyze the country. The papers express pleasure that Premier Clemenceau had pledged himself to consult the country soon, through the coming elections.

Prince To Visit White House

British Heir-Apparent Invited to Be Guest of United States Government

London.—The Prince of Wales will reach the U.S. next month as the guest of the U.S. government. King George, on behalf of the Prince, has accepted an invitation sent the Prince by President Wilson, to visit the President in Washington.

After his visit to Canada, the Prince will go to Washington for a few days as a guest of the United States government and later will make a brief visit to New York, where he will live on board the British battleship Renown in New York harbor, although still a guest of the government.

King to Unveil Montreal Statue

Montreal.—King George has consented to unveil the memorial here to Sir Etienne Cartier by pressing a button at Balmoral. The Duke of Connaught cabled E. W. Villeneuve, president of the Cartier centenary, of which the former Governor-General was a patron, that His Majesty would unveil the statue by this method on September 6, the anniversary of Cartier's birthday. A wire will be run from Balmoral to connect with the Atlantic and Canadian cable lines, thus forming a direct electrical connection.

Germany Would Be Friends With Neighbors

Advances Along Path in Expectation of Revision of Peace Treaty

Weimar.—Dr. Hermann Mueller, minister of foreign affairs, speaking before the national assembly, urged the carrying out of the peace treaty to the utmost, while working also for its revision. He advocated also the friendliest disposition towards Belgium by real sacrifices, thus paving the way for an understanding with the Belgian neighbor nations.

Dr. Mueller favored non-intervention in Russia and an effort to promote friendly relations with Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, while not forgetting Germany's former allies, Bulgaria and Turkey.

Priests Must Pay

Kingston, Ont.—Judge Lavell has issued an attaching order to twelve Roman Catholic clergymen in the Kingston archdiocese for the "Cathedratium," the ten per cent. of the revenue of a parish priest which is payable to Archbishop Spratt from the respective parishes of these men. This step is being taken to realize under the judgment obtained by Sister Mary Basil against Archbishop Spratt and Sister Margregie, of the House of Providence, for the sum of $20,000.

Germans Must Surrender Livestock

Paris.—Germany will have to surrender to France 500 stallions, 3,000 fillies, 90,000 milk cows, 100,000 sheep and 10,000 goats, according to a report made to the French peace commission sitting under the presidency of Rene Viviani, by M. Dubois, economic expert for the commission, in commenting on the peace treaty clauses.

Two hundred stallions, 5,000 mares, 5,000 fillies, 50,000 cows and 4,000 heifers were also to go to Belgium from Germany. The deliveries are to be made monthly during a period of three months until completed.

Our State-Owned Ships

Ottawa.—By the end of this year the government will have twenty ships with a total net tonnage of 110,000 tons operating in the North Atlantic and West Indian trade. The voyages made by the seven steamers already in commission have been very profitable.

Civilian Disturbances All Over England

London.—Civilian disturbances in different parts of the country have been as destructive as anything committed by the military. At Swindon gangs of youths and discharged imperial soldiers looted twenty business premises and burned the flagstaff outside the municipal buildings. At Luton, where the town hall was burned, further disturbances were quelled by police charges. Men and four women were arrested, and further arrests are imminent. At Coventry many shops were attacked; 40 persons were injured, some dangerously, and police assistance was sought from Birmingham. At Bilston the mobs tore down a wall and used the bricks as missiles against the police. Additional police were summoned from neighboring towns.

Would Exclude Canadian Cattle

Fears Expressed in England That Animals Are Exposed to Diseases

London.—Farmers of England are opposing the efforts being made to remove the long-standing prohibition on the importation of Canadian store cattle. The council of the chamber of agriculture has adopted a report urging that there be no relaxation in the restrictions, not because of disease which is admitted to be non-existent in Canada, but because Canada's extended frontier exposes her to constant danger from the U.S., where animal diseases are always present.

Trading In Titles Is Charge Made

London.—The tender spot in British political life today is the dispensation of titles. These are awarded, of course, by the King, but on the nomination of the Prime Minister, and the criticism of reformers is that titles have been given for a long time and by various prime ministers for purely party services, and practically bought by contributions to party funds.

The House of Lords has a peculiar interest in this matter, because the old "noble" families are jealous of having their caste lowered by the addition to the newly rich and purely rich to the orders of nobility.

The question was threshed out last year, and there was a general understanding that hereafter when honors were announced the reason for their bestowal should be published. This has been done in form, but, it is alleged, not in substance, because several much criticized honors in the last list were described as "for public services," which might mean almost anything.

The new national party, which has a few members in the House of Commons, has taken up the question. The chairman, Gen. Page Croft, has written to the newspapers proposing to prove before any judicial committee that since 1910 one member of parliament has rejected an offer of a title in return for a cash payment to party funds, and that the father of a member of the House of Commons was offered a baronetcy for £25,000.

He charged also that a member of parliament who was created a peer after the beginning of the war, subscribed shortly afterward a very large sum of money to a newspaper that supports the Premier.

He mentions also instances in which he says titles were granted to a politician of so notorious a character as to be regarded as unfit to be a candidate for parliament, to another politician regarded as unscrupulous, and to a third man "previously involved in a notorious social scandal."

Sergt. Arthur Weddell returned home from overseas last Saturday night and is receiving a great welcome home by his wife and little daughter, father, mother, brothers, sisters and many friends. He was among the first to enlist from Gleichen and save being gassed returns from the great war uninjured and looks fine.

Sapper Mesheck Naylor returned from overseas, but it was only a week ago he paid The Call a visit Mesheck was wounded and gassed and is still far from being well Last Saturday he went to Calgary to enter the hospital for further treatment. He attend the public school in Gleichen and has scores of young friends here who wish him a speedy recovery as well as his many relatives who reside here.

Reservations for Industrial Congress

Reservations are now being made at headquarters of the forthcoming Alberta Industrial Congress for the train which is to leave Medicine Hat on the evening of August 11, for the Grand Theatre, Calgary, where congress sessions take place, and for hotel accommodation at Medicine Hat, Calgary and Edmonton. There is no cost attached to attendance at the congress sessions in Calgary and reservations are made for all who apply by leeter or wire.

The congress sessions will take place at Calgary in the morning and afternoon of both Wednesday and Thursday of the week of August 11-16. The Edmonton session of the congress promises to be an interesting feature and at the capital city the premier and government members will give a reception. The congress will conclude with a trip nto the rockies at the end of the week.

Several hundred reservations have already been made for the theatre sessions and a slightly lesser number far the special trains. Several parties of American industrial leaders will accompany the special train in a private car.

Mr. Mason will occupy the pulpit in Union Church on Sunday evening, August 3rd. Service 7:30.

"VAUBAN"

Thoroughbred Stallion at Service

"Vauban" holds a certificate of soundness from the English Board of Agriculture, which states that he is sound and suitable for breeding purposes in every respect.
"Vauban" was a winner in England and with restricted chances, owing to the war has already sired winners of useful races in England.
His pedigree will stand the closest inspection and he is undoubtedly the best bred horse standing at stud in Alberta. He has been imported by me from England and will stand at my barn a half mile north and one half mile east of Cluny.
Service fees for Thoroughbred mares $75 and half-bred mares $25 for full season 1919. Subscriptions may now be booked for 1920. He will be restricted to 40 mares, including his owners. Already 23 outside subscriptions are booked to "Vauban" for 1920.
